EVENT REPORT : 30-Hour Online Course on Bengali Grammar for Competitive Examination

(17th May 2022 to 28th June 2022)

From 17th May 2022 to 28th June 2022, a comprehensive 30-hour online course on Bengali Grammar for Competitive Examination was conducted, 300 participants. The course coordinated by Dr. Krishna Jhulki, aimed to equip aspiring to apply for the various Government Examination. Must go through the topics of general Bengali for competitive exams, as the Bengali language is a key part of the syllabus, for most of these exams.

The syllabus was meticulously crafted to cover a wide range of topics crucial for Bengali grammar is an essential component of competitive exams, as it tests the candidates' understanding of the language and their ability to communicate effectively. It is helpful for different competitive exams like WBCS, TET and other teaching recruitment. Here we are going to provide an overview of the Bengali grammar syllabus for competitive exams and offer valuable tips to help candidates excel in this subject.

Participants were introduced to Language Proficiency Assessment: Bengali grammar is assessed to evaluate candidates' proficiency in the Bengali language. It helps measure their understanding of grammar rules, sentence structure, and vocabulary usage. Communication Skills: Bengali is a Mother language and also an Indian Language in our Country. Many competitive exams assess candidates' Bengali grammar skills to ensure they possess effective written and verbal communication skills, which are vital in various professional and academic contexts.

The course was well-received with participants appreciating the in-depth coverage topics and the practical insights provided by Dr. Krishna Jhulki. The interactive sessions, combined with the extensive resources shared, empowered participants to confidently embark on Bengali grammar learning journey.

EVENT REPORT : 30-Hour Online Course on Tagore Life & Literature

18th November 2022 and run till 22nd December 2022,

From 18th November 2022 and run till 22nd December 2022, a comprehensive 30-hour online course on Tagore Life & Literature was conducted, 300 participants. The course coordinated by Dr. Krishna Jhulki, aimed to develop a close connection of students with the life and philosophy of Rabindranath Tagore.

The syllabus was meticulously crafted to cover a wide range of topics crucial for Tagore Life & Literature, as it tests the candidates' understanding of the Tagore stays relevant today, as he was almost a century ago. Tagore's thinking undoubtedly was way ahead of his time. His contribution to literature is incomparable- perhaps for the first time the rest of the world was exposed to Indian literature at an unprecedented scale- thanks to Tagore. His command of Bengali as well as ease in English were both truly remarkable. His views can be fathomed from a number of his stories. In this era of globalization, Tagore's philosophy has a lot to offer. His views on equality similarly find many places in discourse today. Debates around nationalism and humanism, internationalism and divinity stay as alive and relevant today. Tagore, through his writings, music compositions and art- still has a lot to give to the world.

Participants were introduced to Rabindranath Tagore recognized multiculturalism and plurality and realized that ethnic and minority groups and their beliefs had to be accepted as a part of the complex fabric of society. He emphasized an educational system where learning was holistic, the aesthetic development of the senses being as important as the development of the intellect. Unlike Einstein, he believed that all scientific laws and objects are connected in some way with human perception and that scientific research should be carried out not just as an end in itself but for the betterment of humankind. His philosophy is reflected in his writings so that his writings are transmitted to the students hence the Bengali department is going to start this course.

The course was well-received with participants appreciating the in-depth coverage topics and the practical insights provided by Dr. Krishna Jhulki. The interactive sessions, combined with the extensive resources shared, empowered participants to confidently embark on Bengali grammar learning journey.

Sub: Submission of Proposal for conducting Add-on course 2021-2022

Respected sir,

With due respect I beg to state you that the Department of Food & Nutrition has agreed to conduct an Add-on-course, subject to approval of the following points:

- i) Name of the Course Coordinator: Dr Chitralkha Mukherjee
- ii) Title of Course: APPLICATION OF AYURVEDA IN PREVENTION OF DISEASES
- iii) Syllabus & Curriculum: Neem Leaves, Moringa Leaves, Pumpkin Seeds, Chia Seeds, and Cinnamon:
 - Production and cultivation
 - Types
 - Nutritional composition
 - Bio active components
 - Application in various disease prevention
- iv) Formation of BOS for the Course: BOS will be formed by the following faculty members:
 - Dr. Chitralkha Mukherjee
 - Dr. Ankita Chakraborty
 - Mrs. Subhasree Rudra
 - Mrs. Sneha Sengupta
 - Mrs. Rupsha Ghosh
- v) Benefits/Course outcomes: Ayurveda, a traditional system of medicine that originated over three millennial years ago in the South Asian region, and is one of the oldest healthcare systems that evolved in the Indian Subcontinent, provides comprehensive insights into food and health based on certain unique concepts and theoretical positions.

This course will introduce the students to the concept of health, which is based on the idea that it is a state of equilibrium within oneself (svasthya), and is inextricably linked to the environment. Ayurvedic principles, such as the Tridosha [Three humors: Vata (Earth+Air), Pitta (Fire+Water), and Kapha (Earth+Water)] theory, provide the relationship between the microcosm and the macrocosm that can be applied in day-to-day practice.

This course will enhance the knowledge of classical Ayurvedic texts covering a wide range of topics relating to foods, ranging from natural sources to their properties in relation to seasons, places, and their specific functions in physiological and pathological states. Ayurvedic perspective on nutrition and health differs greatly from that of biomedicine and modern nutrition. Modern knowledge has taken several of these concepts and redefined them in the context of systems biology, personalized medicine, and a more holistic transition in the sciences in general.

Students with a satisfactory understanding of Food and Nutrition Sciences can appreciate the advantages of Ayurveda for preventing various diseases, such as lifestyle disorders, cancers and many more.

- vi) Seat Capacity/Target audience: 300 seats
- vii) Duration of course: 03 months and 30 hours
- viii) Tentative time of assessments: At the end of course (after three months)

Therefore, I request you to take necessary steps regarding said matter and give me permission for the said course.

Yours faithfully

 - a. Principles and theories of growth and development
 - b. Early childhood care and education
 - c. Children rehabilitation with special needs
 - d. Adolescence and youth: Challenges and programme
 - e. Aging-physical and psychological changes and care needs
- iv) Formation of BOS for the Course: BOS will be formed by the following faculty members:
Dr. Chitralkha Mukherjee
Dr. Ankita Chakraborty
Mrs. Subhasree Rudra
Mrs. Sneha Sengupta
Mrs. Rupsha Ghosh
- v) Benefits/Course outcomes:
Introduction to Human Development provides a broad and foundational overview of field of human development, starting from conception and ending through process of death and dying. The course will start with an outline and explanation of the lifespan perspective in human development. The biological beginnings of life and prenatal development will serve as the start of the discussion of human development, followed by an exploration of physical, cognitive, and socioemotional development at each subsequent stage within the lifespan (e.g., infancy, early childhood, middle & late childhood, pregnancy, lactation, geriatric etc.). Discussion of each developmental stage will highlight major research findings and their real-world application.

Outcome 1: Develop a broad but strong base of knowledge surrounding the field of human development and how human development research is conducted.

Outcome 2: Be able to read and understand, critically think about current research in the field of human development and how research can be applied to the real world.

Outcome 3: Gain an understanding about the different developmental stages and what kind of change is occurring across the domains of physical, cognitive, and socioemotional development.

Event Report

The Department of Library at Kanchrapara College successfully conducted an add-on course on Introduction to Research Methodology during the 2018-19 academic session (July-September 2018). This valuable course attracted a diverse group of 304 students from various departments within the college, fostering a rich learning environment where students could share their unique disciplinary perspectives on research methods.

The course equipped participants with crucial research skills, including formulating research questions, conducting literature reviews, collecting and analyzing data, and adhering to research ethics. These valuable skills will empower students in their academic endeavors, from completing projects and assignments to pursuing higher studies and research. Notably, a success rate of 299 students completing the course demonstrates the effectiveness of the program.

Event Report

The Department of Library at Kanchrapara College conducted a fruitful add-on course on Information Sources & Systems during the 2019-20 academic session (July-September 2019). Attracting a diverse group of 304 students from various departments, the course equipped them with the essential skills to navigate the complexities of information sources and systems. By the course's end, a remarkable 301 students successfully completed the program.

This newfound information literacy will empower them to become more efficient researchers and critical thinkers, not just throughout their academic careers but also in their future pursuits. Including the instructors' names and specific examples of how students applied these skills would provide a richer picture of the course's impact.
