2.1.2 HEI is requested to kindly note that number of students admitted total as well as category wise should be less than number of seats earmarked. Please relook and provide correct revise data.

Our esteemed institution is appreciated the efforts in maintaining a transparent and merit-based admission process. The issue arises when students belonging to the reserved categories, who have secured higher marks than the general category cut-off, are being placed in the general category.

Express my concerns regarding the allocation of seats for admission in the general category, specifically concerning students from reserved categories who are securing seats in the general category due to their higher marks.

When reserved category students, who have worked hard and secured high marks, are placed in the general category, it reduces the number of seats available to those who do not have any reservation benefits, thus impacting their chances of admission.
